BOULDER, COLO
CONFERENCE

A variety of issues, including Soviet-American relations, will be discussed April 8-14 at the University of Colorado's 37th Conference on World Affairs.

Highlights of the conference will be an address by former Secretary of State Alexander Haig on the future of international relations, and a tribute to R. Buckminster Fuller.

Issues to be discussed by participants from throughout the United States and several foreign countries will include arms control, civil liberties, education, genetic engineering, Grenada, employment, Lebanon, the media, nuclear holocaust, space, terrorism and women in the Third World.

Participants will include Margot Adler, National Public Radio producer; astronaut Joseph Allen; Samuel T. Cohen, creator of the neutron bomb; Roger Ebert, Chicago Sun-Times film critic; former CIA agent Newton Miler; Donald Morrison, senior editor of Time International, and satirist Charlie Varon.
